

0401753 MICROWAVE ENGINEERING

Elective Course. Telecommunication

Prerequisites: Department approval

Description:

Microwave engineering plays an important role in modern communication systems. This course concentrates on the main points of microwave engineering that include design of modern microstrip circuitry and solid state electronic devices.