

0402302 Probability and Engineering Statistics

(3 Credit hours, Prerequisite -)

The objective of the course is to expose the student to the following topics: probability and statistics in engineering, descriptive statistics, introduction to probability, important discrete and continuous distribution, the normal distribution, hypothesis testing, simple and multiple regression and application of statistics in quality control.