

0404581 Transport Phenomena in Living Systems

(3 Credit hours, Prerequisite: 0404334)

Introduction to human physiology. Transport phenomena in various human organs. Blood flow in blood vessels. Kinetics and diffusion of different medications. Momentum, heat, and mass transfer in the blood circulation system. Analysis of the operation of the kidney, lung, placenta, liver, and artificial organs.